FREE2MOVE AND CARIGAMI ANNOUNCE EUROPE-WIDE INTEGRATION

- Free2move's cars can now be booked via the app of Carigami
- Customers can now access Europe-wide Free2move offers
- Partnership serves as a further step towards redesigning urban mobility

Paris, May 23, 2024 – Free2move, Europe's leading provider of free-floating car sharing, to which all previous activities of the SHARE NOW company refer, is proud to announce its new partnership with Carigami, an online car hire comparator and one of the leaders on the French market. The partnership involves comprehensive integration of the car sharing fleet into the app of Carigami.

Starting today, Carigami customers can use around 10,000 Free2move vehicles in all European markets, including Paris, Rome, Milan, Madrid, Amsterdam, or Berlin. The partnership is not only an expansion of the current service offering but also underlines the companies' shared ambition to sustainably transform the mobility infrastructure in urban areas.

Pierre Feisthauer, press spokesman of Carigami, explains: "The partnership with Free2move emphasizes the importance of collaboration within the mobility industry to create efficient, environmentally friendly and cost-effective mobility. With the new offer, Carigami offers a greater variety of rental cars and sharing options than any other mobility app."

The Press department at Free2move adds: "Especially in urban areas, more and more people prefer a mix of different mobility options. By collaborating with Carigami, we become part of a mobility platform that reflects and shares our vision. In addition, we can convince even more people of the long-term advantages of car sharing."
